From the Academic Registrar

17th January, 1974

Dear Sir,

It is my very pleasant duty, on behalf of the Senate and the Academic Council, to invite you to deliver in the University of London during the session 1974/1975 a course of two or three lectures on a subject of your own choice which would be of interest primarily to our advanced students of Romance Languages and Literatures.

If you are willing to accept this invitation I should be pleased to know ~~what~~ dates would be convenient for you. Special University Lectures are usually held in the first and second terms of the session, as the third term is much occupied with examinations. It is hoped, therefore, that your lectures may be delivered before the end of May in the third term. The dates of the University terms are as follows:-

- Second term : 8th January - 19th March
- Third term : 23rd April - 2nd July

An honorarium of £20 per lecture is offered together with a subsistence allowance and grant towards your travelling expenses.

May I end by saying how much the University would be honoured if you would accept this invitation.

Yours faithfully,

P.F. VOWLES
